

These are pure, pleasant to take, thoroughly active, and free from all the disadvantages that characterize other preparations of the drug. The value of Cascara Sagrada, when pure, in chronic constipation is generally known, and in the form of "Tablets" it has given the fullest satisfaction. They may be swallowed without tasting.

Tablets of Cascara Sagrada are supplied by all Chemists.

HONGKONG, APRIL 14TH, 1891.

We are glad to hear that there is some prospect of the formation of a Ratepayers' Association for Hongkong. The idea is not altogether new, having been advocated several years ago in these columns. On this occasion we trust the project will not be allowed to fall through. Public spirit in Hongkong is not very vigorous, as shown in connection with the recent Jubilee celebrations, and it is always difficult to secure an attendance at meetings which promise little amusement and no immediate profit. A Ratepayers' Association ought, however, to be the means of cultivating a healthy public interest in the affairs of the Colony and the reproof of our lack of public spirit might thereby be removed. The main object of the Association, we take it, would be to obtain the Municipal Government for the Colony. In the meantime it would be able to bring considerable pressure to bear on the Government to compel it to remedy many minor abuses and inconveniences. That the ratepayers should be content to have Queen's Road kept in its present state almost impassable in wet weather, must be a source of surprise to any casual visitor. Still more surprising is their quiet acquiescence in the blocking of the Eastern Praya to carriage traffic while the Public Works Department is quarrelling with the owners of a piece of property as to who should repair a bridge. The projected Association might also inquire why the promised scheme of local postal delivery has not been carried into effect and why pillar letter boxes are not provided for the convenience of the residents in the outlying districts. Another field open to it would be in protesting against extravagance in connection with public works. Fortunately the Public Works Committee of the Legislative Council is in the future to be an active instead of a merely passive body, and scandals in regard to the expenditure of public funds may be expected to be less frequent and less grave than in the past. To the Hon. T. H. WINTERBOLD belongs the credit of having secured from the Government a recognition of the proper functions of the Public Works Committee, and the Colony is greatly indebted to him for the service. The Ratepayers' Association will, however, enable the members of the Public Works Committee and the unofficial members of Council generally, to ascertain the views and wishes of his public in a more complete measure than they have at present the opportunity of doing.

It has been remarked that the annual meeting of the General Chamber of Commerce affords almost the only opportunity of a public criticism of the policy and acts of the Government. But the Chamber of Commerce comprises a comparatively small section of the public, and the opportunity its meetings afford is not very largely availed of, as witness the usually small attendance. And here comes the rub. Would the attendance at meetings of the Ratepayers' Association be any better? We hope so, but experience alone can tell. Much would depend on the working Committee and the Secretary appointed at the outset. For these positions capable men not afraid of hard work or of possible criticism are required. We have not been made acquainted with the details of the scheme, but presumably it has its origin in the recent agitation against the military contribution. In our yesterday's issue we reproduced a paragraph from the Singapore Free Press stating that at a recent meeting of the Straits Association a letter was read from the Secretary of the Straits Association in London with reference to the question of conjoint action by the three Eastern Crown Colonies, and that the Hon. E. Brize was to be written to on the subject. If the three colonies worked together the home Government would be less indifferent to local opinion than is at present; these and the interests of the colonies would profit proportionately. It is possible that in some instances the colonies might not be in perfect accord, but in such a case each would still be at liberty to fight for its own opinion and the position would be no worse than it is at present; in Hongkong it would be better inasmuch as we would have a regularly organised body for the expression of public opinion, which at present we have not. We therefore cordially welcome the proposal to form a Ratepayers' Association here, but we trust that if the proposal is carried out the Association will not start with the idea that it is to confine itself to questions like that of the military contribution; the ordinary everyday affairs of the Colony are what ought to command its chief attention. Upon the measure of intelligence and active interest it brings to bear upon these will depend the prospect of an early institution of municipal government.
